

You're invited!

The Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Columbia (UUC) is proud to boast a vibrant music ministry led by our enthusiastic, dedicated, and talented volunteers who sing in the Chalice Choir, play or sing in services, and support the music ministry in a variety of ways, with our Director of Music Ministry, Michael Adcock, DMA, at the helm.

If you love music, we'd be delighted to have you participate with us! You don't need to be a member of the congregation or even know how to read music. If you love music, can carry a tune, or play an instrument, you'll be warmly welcomed.

FOR WORSHIP

Sunday Mornings

During most Sunday morning worship services, you'll hear from our adult choirs, join in congregational singing, and enjoy keyboard music. You may even hear featured special music offered by UCC community members. We are grateful for the talented instrumentalists, vocal ensembles, and soloists who generously offer their time and talents.

Our Director of Music Ministry, Michael Adcock, weaves music appreciation into Sunday morning worship services, enhancing our cultural, historical, and spiritual understanding both within and beyond the walls of UCC.

GET INVOLVED WITH

Music

Do you love music? Here are 4 easy ways to get involved with music at UCC.

Music Services

Twice a year, the music ministry presents a highly-anticipated themed music service showcasing musical selections from an array of cultures and choral traditions.

Adult Choirs & Ensembles

The Chalice Choir welcomes singers who love all kinds of music and can carry a tune! No previous choral singing experience or music reading ability is required. We rehearse weekly on Thursday evenings and sing together in services twice monthly, September through May.

Our Chalice Singers and Chalice Rebels specialize in a cappella, contemporary music, and jazz, while our wonderful in-house jazz instrumental ensemble are the Chalice Messengers.

- Drop in for a Chalice Choir rehearsal any Thursday at 7pm, September through May! No choral experience necessary.
- Volunteer to contribute music to a Sunday morning service.
- Usher at a Saturday evening Chalice Concert.
- Join the One World Coffeehouse planning team.

Contact Michael Adcock at michael@uucolumbia.net to get started and share your talents!

FOR THE COMMUNITY

Chalice Concert Series

Our Chalice Concert chamber music series features professional and emerging musicians, who enliven their performances with commentary on the music. Four affordable concerts are offered to the greater Howard County community on Saturday evenings in the fall, winter, and spring.

One World Coffeehouse

The One World Coffeehouse concert series features a multicultural array of artistic talent in a variety of styles. The series supports a diversity of artists from the congregation and beyond, whose work is compatible with Unitarian Universalist values and appeals to a broad audience.
